Сводка

The Study Director Team Lead is accountable for functional contribution to support the end-to-end delivery of a portfolio (set of program(s)/platform) of clinical trials within a Development Unit (DU).

The Team Lead provides people leadership to Study Leaders (Study Leaders, Senior Study Leaders, and Study Directors) within the assigned program teams and across Novartis Development hubs spread globally. People management includes capability building (people development and coaching), and performance management, and contributing to DU-wide people priorities set by the DU SL Head.

About the Role

This position is based in Barcelona, Spain. Novartis is unable to offer relocation support: please only apply if accessible. #LI-Hybrid

Great clinical trials start with exceptional leadership. As the Study Director Team Lead, you will have the opportunity to shape the successful delivery of a diverse portfolio of clinical trials while leading and developing a high-performing global team of Study Leaders. In this influential role, you will partner across Development to drive operational excellence, strengthen study execution, and empower teams to deliver quality, efficiency, and innovation at every stage of the clinical trial lifecycle. Combining strategic leadership with hands-on collaboration, you will play a key role in advancing breakthrough therapies for patients while fostering a culture of continuous learning, accountability, and inclusion across a global matrix organization.

Key Responsibilities but not limited to:

- Lead and develop a global team of Study Leaders, Senior Study Leaders, and Study Directors.
- Partner with Clinical Operations Program Heads to provide functional expertise, operational planning support, risk mitigation strategies, and issue resolution across assigned programs.
- Drive proactive planning, risk mitigation, and issue resolution across studies and programs.
- Ensure trials are delivered on time, within budget, and in compliance with quality standards.
- Foster a high-performing, inclusive culture through coaching, capability building, and performance management.
- Champion operational excellence, standardization, and continuous improvement across studies and programs.
- Lead implementation of innovative technologies and artificial intelligence-enabled ways of working.
- Represent Study Leadership within governance forums and serve as the primary program contact.
- Accountable for program-level Study Leadership resourcing and allocation, ensuring alignment between portfolio priorities, organizational capacity, and successful delivery.
- Promote cross-functional collaboration, knowledge sharing, and best practice adoption across Development.

Essential Requirements:

- Bachelor's degree in life sciences, healthcare, or a clinically relevant scientific discipline.
- Minimum 8 years of clinical research or drug development experience across global clinical studies.
- Minimum 5 years of people leadership experience within a complex matrix organization.
- Strong knowledge of clinical trial regulations, Good Clinical Practice (GCP), and global regulatory requirements.
- Proven experience leading cross-functional teams and delivering clinical studies from planning through completion.
- Demonstrated ability to coach, develop, and build high-performing teams across global locations.
- Demonstrated experience in proactive operational planning, risk management, and issue resolution across clinical studies.
- Excellent stakeholder management, communication, negotiation, and conflict resolution skills.
- Strong strategic thinking, project management, and problem-solving capabilities in a dynamic environment.

Desirable Requirements:

- Advanced degree in life sciences, healthcare, medicine, pharmacy, or a related scientific discipline.
- Experience within the relevant therapeutic area.
- Experience driving operational excellence, innovation, or organizational transformation initiatives.
- Experience driving innovation and continuous improvement, including adoption of digital solutions.
